Noche Flamenca's latest creation is an evocative flamenco performance inspired by the powerful imagery of Francisco de Goya. Artistic director Martin Santangelo reimagines the famous painter's work through riveting choreography, original music, and expressive storytelling. With vibrant costumes, lighting, and masks designed by Mary Frank, each scene delivers a visceral journey through Goya's vision.

Praised by The New York Times as "raising the dead with Goya," the production explores humanity's beauty, darkness, and contradictions.

With guidance from Goya expert Mark MacDonald of The Metropolitan Museum of Art, the piece offers fresh interpretations of works like El Quitasol, Perro Semihundido, and Duelo a Garrotazos. Through flamenco's emotional depth and raw energy, this performance captures the enduring power of Goya's art and the universal truths it still reveals.

The Boston Globe boasts that Noche Flamenca is "Internationally recognized as one of Spain's most respected troupes, this is Flamenco in its pure essence."

From the first note, this Chicago-born soul singer pulls you in with a voice that is powerful, textured, and undeniably real.

She first caught the nation's eye on Season 17 of The Voice, where her stunning performances earned standing ovations and high praise from the judges. John Legend even called her one of the best vocalists to ever grace the show.

Blending gospel, blues, and soul into every song, she brings a classic spirit to the stage with a style all her own. Her original music brims with heart and fire, full of stories that resonate long after the last chord fades.

Known for her larger-than-life presence and fearless authenticity, she sings with a conviction that makes you feel every lyric deep down.

Critics and fans agree she is one of the most captivating voices in music today. Come experience the thrill of seeing her live and be moved by a performance you will not soon forget.

"We don't deserve you, Katie. You deserve more than 'The Voice.' You deserve Grammys."

Garrison Keillor

with special guest Richard Dworsky

THUR, JAN 15; 7:30pm

$49-$69, Premium $79

A Clark Center Presents Event

Loyal fans and those new to his audience will be entertained with Garrison Keillor's quintessential humor, music, poetry and anecdotes in his classic baritone.

The thread that runs through is the beauty of growing old. Garrison has found graceful acceptance and real joy in life's sunset, bringing celebration to the inevitable journey.

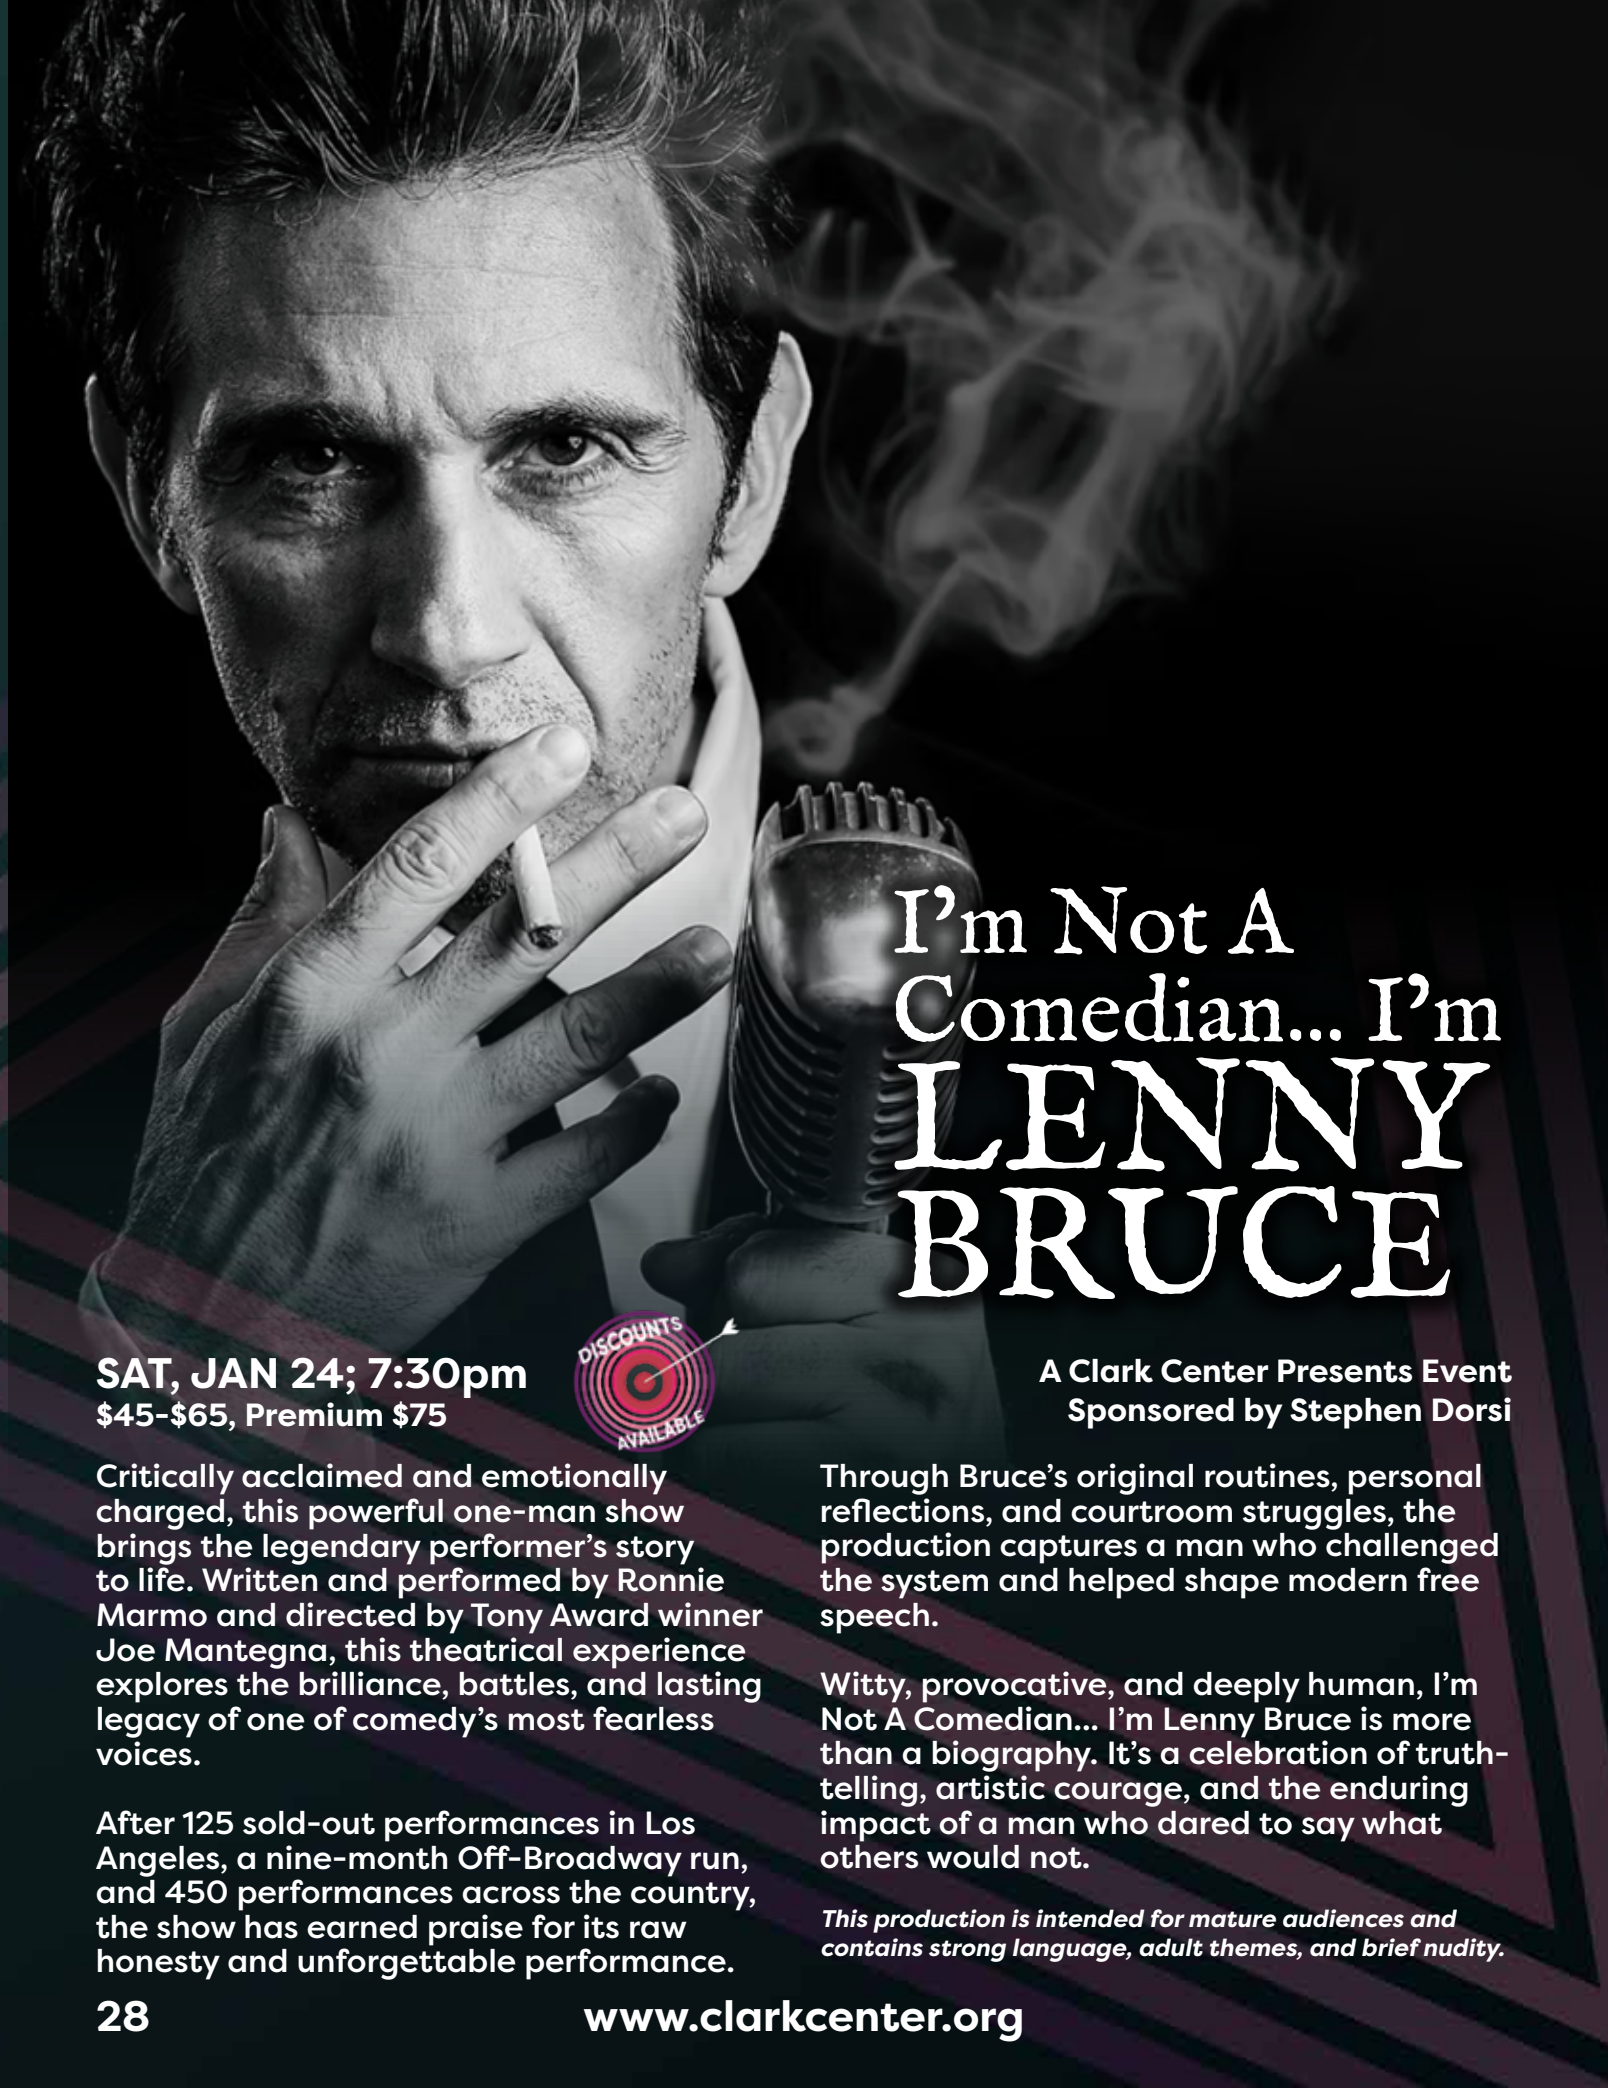

"Life is unjust and this is what makes it so beautiful. Every day is a gift. Be brave and take hold of it."

With cheerfulness and wit, the natural storyteller has endured the decades. The familiar, decent characters of Lake Wobegon will undoubtedly be woven in to the evening, along with a limerick or two, and communal sing-alongs to lift the spirits.

"We are the last generation who knows all the words," says Keillor. "When we're gone, they'll disappear."

Joined by his longtime Musical Director, Richard Dworsky, this will surely be an enjoyable evening.

To showcase the pictures and narratives in the fantastic worlds of such films as “The Impossible Voyage” or burlesque universes in such shorts as “The Four Troublesome Heads,” Right in the Eye offers a poetic, playful, and current rendition of the works of Georges Méliès. The scenography is enhanced by subtle lighting that gives life to the set and creates continuity with the projection. Lighting and scenic design combine to establish a unique identity that makes Right in the Eye much more than just a movie-concert – it is a fabulously imaginative and poetic show.

An original score is composed for each film – making every piece unique – and harmoniously integrated into the Right in the Eye production as a whole. Inspired by the cinematographic richness and inventiveness of Méliès, Jean-François Alcoléa has devised a unique orchestration that offers a broad spectrum of sound qualities and modes of playing.

“Right in the Eye is one of the best live performances I’ve ever seen. Truly talented and ingenious artists.”

SUN, MARCH 1; 3:00pm
$45-$65, Premium $75; Students $22-$27

A Clark Center Presents Event
Sponsored by Basin Street Regulars

Winner of 18 Grammy Awards, the legendary Count Basie Orchestra has performed at every major jazz festival and concert hall, swinging with unmatched energy, style, and soul. Under Scotty Barnhart's direction, this powerhouse ensemble continues the extraordinary legacy of pianist and bandleader William James "Count" Basie — an American icon whose orchestra still captivates audiences nearly 40 years after his passing.

Now celebrating their 90th Anniversary Tour, the Basie Orchestra features jazz royalty Nnenna Freelon, a luminous seven-time Grammy nominee, adding her radiant voice and commanding stage presence. From timeless hits that defined an era to bold modern interpretations, the band keeps the music fresh, alive, and full of joy.

Recent honors include a 2024 Grammy for Basie Swings the Blues, a 2022 Grammy nomination for Live at Birdland, and their groundbreaking holiday album, A Very Swingin' Basie Christmas!, which topped the jazz charts. They also starred in the BBC/PBS documentary Count Basie: Through His Own Eyes, with tributes from Quincy Jones and John Williams.

Launching legends like Billie Holiday and Lester Young, today's 18-member orchestra continues to stomp, shout, and swing, embodying the grandeur of jazz and inviting new generations to experience its soul.

The Count Basie Orchestra mark appears under license from the Rutgers University Institute of Jazz Studies.

The most sought-after big band in the world returns with its signature swing sound and timeless charm. Led by music director and saxophonist Erik Stabnau and featuring the captivating vocals of Jenny Swoish, the 18-member Glenn Miller Orchestra brings iconic hits like “In the Mood,” “Moonlight Serenade,” and “Chattanooga Choo Choo” to life.

Formed by Alton Glenn Miller in 1938, this remarkable band revolutionized the big band era with a sound all its own — anchored by clarinet melodies paired with tenor sax harmonies, creating a smooth, unforgettable style. The orchestra quickly soared, topping charts, breaking attendance records, and lighting up Hollywood films. Even during WWII, Miller’s commitment to boosting morale saw him form the Army Air Force Band, performing over 800 times for troops abroad before his tragic disappearance in 1944.

Today, with nearly 300 live dates each year, the Glenn Miller Orchestra continues to honor Miller’s legacy, blending precision, elegance, and irresistible energy. Experience the music that defined a generation in this dazzling tribute to America’s greatest dance band — and discover why, as Duke Ellington said, “It don’t mean a thing if it ain’t got that swing!”

When Tom Petty blasted onto the scene with the song “Breakdown” in 1976, no one could have predicted that he would eventually become one of the most prolific singer songwriters in the history of popular music. With 28 top 10 hits to their credit, Tom Petty and the Heartbreakers captured the heart of our nation with catchy melodies and a power pop style reminiscent of the Beatles and the Byrds in their heyday.

Driven by a deep love and admiration for Petty’s music, Devitt Feeley assembled topflight Los Angeles tribute musicians to faithfully and respectfully perform Tom Petty’s classics. The result: a high-energy live concert that captures the spirit, sound, and soul of the iconic rock legend. With pitch-perfect harmonies, powerful guitar riffs, and infectious stage presence, Petty Party delivers all the hits and deep cuts you love – from “American Girl” and “Free Fallin’” to “Refugee,” “Learning to Fly,” “I Won’t Back Down” and more.

The passion and intensity of last year’s Clark Center performance garnered a standing ovation and rave reviews, so the party is back, and you’re invited!

ABOUT THE CLARK CENTER

THE VENUE

Located in the charming hamlet of Arroyo Grande, the Clark Center is a state-of-the-art hub for cultural and performing arts productions, as well as a professional setting for vocational and educational events.

The Center consists of two state-of-the-art venues, the 617 seat Forbes Hall and the 120 seat Studio Theater. Both are used for a variety of professional and community productions and are available to rent. The Grand Lobby also serves as a gallery for local artists.

A UNIQUE PARTNERSHIP

With funds raised by the community, the Clark Center for the Performing Arts was built in partnership with the Lucia Mar Unified School District (which owns the facility) and is managed and operated by a 501(c)(3) nonprofit with ongoing support from the community.
