IRON TRELLIS

THE DETAILS

Our wish is for you to fully enjoy your special event planning. The details in this guide are meant to answer questions you may have before touring with us, and as you start to plan your event. We are grateful you have considered us to host your loved ones, and we do not take that lightly. We have gathered some of the best of the best in our team and the vendors we recommend. Our aim in this curated list is to give you a choice between the most lavish vendors and the kind to your budget vendors. Whichever you choose, rest assured we have your best interests at heart and won't steer you in a direction we don't believe in.

IRON TRELLIS

OUR STORY

Our journey began years ago when what we thought was our ending became a new beginning, as we had to close the hardware store that had been owned and operated by the Demich Family for 72 years. That chapter came to an end, and the planning to create a beautiful atmosphere where we could still use our desire to host people came to be. The planning began in a hay field, and that field is where the beautiful garden venue sits today.

We consider ourselves storytellers, and your love story is our favorite narrative. We can't wait to help you write the next beautiful chapter in your journey together.

IRON TRELLIS

A romantic wedding moment featuring a groom in a black tuxedo with a white shirt and black bow tie, kissing the bride's hand. The bride is wearing a white lace wedding dress and holding a large bouquet of white and yellow flowers. The background is softly blurred, showing other guests in formal attire.
