

Italian Plastic

Charge it to the Italian Plastic A garden bed of fragrant fugazzis. Drink now, water later.

Very good, very lo-fi wines at very good, very drinkable prices. These are fun wines of fine quality made by McLaren Vale-based Sam Berketa.

Multi-regional, multi-lingual, borderless and infinite, the van-lifers of the wine world. They live for the moment, always celebrate a sense of place, and honestly, they look really nice in photos. Racy, wild and fresh.

Pét Nat

RIESLING

Our motto has always been ‘when it’s right, it’s right’. Where Riesling makes the sparks ignite. Starts out like the morning sun, feeling fresh and so polite. When you find your baby gotta hold her tight. Everything’s a little clearer in the light of day, so why wait for the cold dark night? Skyrocketing bubbles in flight. Afternoon delight.

Blush

PINOT GRIGIO

A rosy cheeked Ramato renaissance. Let's kiss and makeup. A sip with a smile that would leave even kings and queens feeling flush. Blush now, but flattery will get you far. A floral flirt well versed in tomfoolery. Putty in the palm of your hand, so while we're there why not take a taste?

Super Glou

MALBEC / ARNEIS / CARIGNAN

The lazy layman's elixir coaxing out a glug at full gallop. A quick fix to affix the lips to a rowdy palate starter. Adhering to nothing, but sticking to us all. Hold the applause, Super Glou will take its bow to the sound of smacked lips.

TASTING NOTES

Golden

SEMILLON / MUSCAT / PINOT GRIS

Orange amber in the wild. Textural as the day is bright. We remember long ago, driving for the coral glow. Where autumn leaves fall far from home. Burning saffron, timeworn tones. A candle held to those before. Flicker in the window. Glitter in the halls. Our engine burns hot tangerine. Rust is pretty. Freedom machines.
