Protocols Wu Wei

The Wu Wei protocol was developed by me in 2015, initially as a new theory within homeopathy where the doctor would treat the root of all problems, not just the symptoms.

This explanation was made using the analogy of a tree, where there is a trunk, several branches, and from each branch, many leaves grow.

The branches would represent each medical specialty, and the leaves would represent each disease treated by each specialty.

According to the teachings of Traditional Chinese Medicine, the cause of the symptoms in all the leaves of each specialty is not in the leaf itself, but in the root of the tree, where the energy imbalances that generate diseases are located—an area where Western medicine has yet to explore.

Traditional Chinese Medicine, which has existed for over 5,000 years, is the field that studies the energy aspects of the human being. Over the years, I discovered that all diseases had one thing in common: this energy deficiency in the five internal solid organs of Traditional Chinese Medicine, which are the Liver, Lungs, Heart, Spleen, and Kidneys.

In recent years, I have written around 300 medical articles published in international medical journals to demonstrate that the cause of all diseases lies in the energy deficiency at the root, corresponding to these five internal solid organs. Today, most diseases are treated using the Wu Wei protocol, as it addresses the energy imbalances present in most conditions. This protocol uses five highly diluted medications to restore the energy of these organs, ensuring the full functioning of all organs and systems, as well as the maintenance of our immune system.

The name 'Wu' comes from Chinese and means five, referring to the five solid organs in the theory of the five elements in Traditional Chinese Medicine, and 'Wei' is the name of the creator of this theory.

Therefore, the Wu Wei protocol was developed to be used by all patients—from babies, children, and young people to adults, whether or not they have any pathology. It should be used to increase the energy of these five organs, thereby boosting immunity and preventing the development of diseases such as anxiety, depression, panic disorder, hypertension, myocardial infarction, stroke, infections in general, diabetes, cancer, and more.

It should be used in the treatment of any pathology today, as all diseases have their root in the energy deficiency of these five internal solid organs of Traditional Chinese Medicine, caused by the modernization of communication technologies, such as the implementation of 4G and 5G, as well as the widespread use of cell phones and computers.

According to Hippocrates, the father of medicine, he says:

“It is the doctor’s job to enable the patient to recover their health.”

And we recover our health through the Wu Wei protocol in any situation

WU WEI PROTOCOL FOR WEIGHT MANAGEMENT AND OBESITY

This protocol is designed for individuals who are overweight or obese, experiencing a lack of energy for physical activities, and facing compromised physiological functions, such as irregular bowel movements and insufficient urinary elimination. These conditions, along with anxiety and insomnia, make weight loss challenging. Our treatment promotes energy rebalancing, improves bodily functions, and aids in healthy weight management.

WU WEI PROTOCOL FOR DIABETES

This protocol is specifically designed for clients dealing with Type 1 diabetes, Type 2 diabetes, gestational diabetes, or medication-induced diabetes who have not yet achieved adequate glycemic control with conventional treatment. By incorporating techniques from Traditional Chinese Medicine, such as Chinese dietary therapy, acupuncture, and herbal medicine, combined with homeopathic remedies, we aim to normalize blood glucose levels throughout the treatment. This approach may lead to a reduction or even discontinuation of hypoglycemic medications and insulin, promoting the balance of the body's internal energy.

WU WEI PROTOCOL FOR INSOMNIA TREATMENT

This protocol is designed for clients suffering from chronic insomnia who have been unable to find relief with traditional sleep-inducing medications. Our treatment addresses not only the physical aspects but also potential dietary errors that may contribute to the problem. Additionally, we focus on rebalancing the energies affected by the frequent use of electronic devices, such as cell phones and computers, which are so common today. We avoid the use of sleep-inducing medications or anxiolytics, as they may perpetuate the energy imbalance causing insomnia, thus maintaining a vicious cycle.

WU WEI PROTOCOL FOR ANXIETY TREATMENT, DEPRESSION AND PANIC SYNDROME

This protocol is specifically designed for clients experiencing symptoms of anxiety, depression, and panic disorder, manifested through palpitations, fear, and a lack of energy for daily activities. Even for those already on psychotropic medication without seeing emotional improvement, this treatment offers significant benefits. Using techniques from Traditional Chinese Medicine, such as Chinese dietary therapy, acupuncture, and energy replenishment through homeopathic remedies, we observe rapid results. In a world where electromagnetic wave contamination affects the global population's energy, our approach aims to restore the essential energy balance for mental and emotional health.

WU WEI PROTOCOL FOR SEXUAL DYSFUNCTION AND LOW LIBIDO

This protocol is intended for men and women facing issues of reduced libido and sexual dysfunction, including erectile difficulties in men. Utilizing techniques from Traditional Chinese Medicine, it aims to address the energy imbalances that directly affect sexual function, a concern impacting a significant portion of the global population, as indicated by recent studies. The specialized treatment focuses on tonifying the energy of the organs involved in this function, complemented by approaches such as Chinese dietary therapy, moxibustion, acupuncture, Chinese herbal medicine, and homeopathy. Unlike allopathic medications, which may increase the risk of complications, including myocardial infarction, the proposed protocol seeks to avoid such risks by promoting a holistic approach to restoring sexual health and libido.

In addition to bad breath, these clients may experience a variety of symptoms such as anxiety, panic disorder, skin allergies, and abdominal pain, all stemming from the same systemic imbalance. By treating these energy imbalances, we can reduce or eliminate bad breath and significantly improve the client's quality of life, eliminating the need for multiple professionals to address different symptoms simultaneously. Moreover, the treatment can enhance intimate and marital relationships, which are often affected by bad breath, promoting more harmonious and happier connections.
