Introducing...

GREEN

From the bud, to our bedding – we are committed to all elements of sustainability as follows:

Our Sustainable Initiatives

We fully endorse The Sustainable Development Goals (SDGs) established by the UN to guide our principles and actions to achieve a better and more sustainable future for all. We use the online NET Positive Futures supplier toolkit, adopted by over 40 Higher Education Institutions, to support businesses in promoting sustainability in their practices, covering economic, social, ethical and environmental aspects. This tool is pivotal in our company development to ensure we generate ideas and create objectives which demonstrate sustainability development, relevant for our clients.

Our Sustainable Products and Supply Chain

We are pleased to introduce our new range of sustainable products, marked with our green icon in this brochure. Our collection of high-end cotton products are completely traceable. We encourage better farming practice, developing environmental awareness whilst helping to cultivate better cotton yields. All of our organic cotton products are GOTS (The Global Organic Textile Standard) certified. We ensure our supplier's factories are accredited to internationally recognised standards with a Senior Gailarde representative visiting and auditing the site.

Our Ethical Trading Policy

We recognise the responsibility that we share with our suppliers to source products in an ethical manner. We want our customers to be confident that the people who make our products are treated fairly, are not exploited and are not exposed to unsafe working conditions. Our Ethical Trading Policy is a core element of our commitment to buy and sell our products responsibly.

Our Handling and Packaging

We have made positive changes to ensure our packaging is recyclable and are currently working towards reducing single use plastic packaging. We ensure main distributors align with our environmental values and demonstrate the ability to efficiently deliver our goods using innovative collection systems and efficient vehicles.

Our Carbon Footprint and Disposal of Goods

Our responsibility for the environment doesn't stop once we've delivered the goods. Disposing of our products at the end of their life in a way that limits the impact on the environment can be a great challenge to our clients and we are proud to offer a fully managed sustainable collection service that ensures there is no landfill and no carbon footprint. We use over 600 recycling locations across the country meaning reduced mileage and compliance documents are supplied for traceability.

Pillow Buying Guide

Contact us to create the perfect pillow for you and your guests.
Call our team
020 8853 0008

One thing we've learned from being in the textiles business for over 40 years is that you should never underestimate the importance of a good pillow. Our pillows leave such a lasting impression; guests of many hotels, regularly track us down to order pillows which have given them "the best night's sleep."

Natural or Synthetic

Firstly, consider the two types of fillings to choose from: natural or synthetic.

Natural pillows consist of down and feather. The percentage increase of feather will give the pillow more stability whilst the down will add luxury/softness to the pillow.

During the manufacturing process of our feather and down pillows they are cleansed and purified to minimise the effect to allergy sufferers.

Our range of synthetic pillows offer a multitude of options when it comes to fill, cover and weight. Fillings include conjugate, cluster, micro and ball fibre and covers range from polycotton to a luxurious 233 thread count cotton cover which are cost-effective whilst being a good choice for allergy sufferers.

There are three aspects to consider when investing in pillows

1. Aesthetics

It's important that a pillow retains its loft when plumped and looks inviting when your beds are made up.

2. Longevity

When buying for your establishment, you want your pillows to last. Investing in a quality product will prevent you from purchasing new pillows sooner than required.

3. Comfort

According to recent studies, guests value a comfortable room most highly with service being the next most important factor. It appears that guests who write reviews are most focused on their immediate surroundings during their stay and on the service they experience. So, if you're going to invest in any part of your establishment, comfort should be your number one priority. Bear in mind, pillows are a personal preference and a perfect solution would be to offer your guests soft and firm pillow alternatives.
