NOW AVAILABLE FOR YOUR CHEVY AND GMC TRUCK

1973-87 CARPET, STANDARD CAB TRUCK

When it comes to automotive carpet Auto Custom Carpets (ACC) is the industry leader. That's why USA1 has teamed up with ACC to offer the best fit and quality carpet available for your Chevy or GMC Truck.

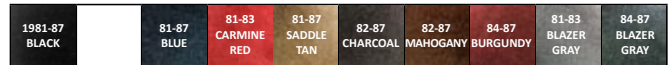

USA1 has hand picked from ACC's colors to match USA1's brand of interior products. (No guessing & getting disappointed!) Pick from standard jute backing or USA1's recommended Mass backing option (See below why!)
Cutpile carpet

Note: Small Hump = 2wd Column Shift Large Hump = 4WD or Manual Floor Shift

What is Mass Backing and why choose it?

It's a thick rubberized coating on the back of the carpet. It makes installation a lot easier because it holds the mold versus standard backing.

Sound and heat benefits compare to high end sound deadeners such as Dynamat at a fraction of the cost. Simply it's the way to go!

1973-87 CARPET, CREW CAB TRUCK

INTERIOR

When it comes to automotive carpet Auto Custom Carpets (ACC) is the industry leader. That's why USA1 has teamed up with ACC to offer the best fit and quality carpet available for your Chevy or GMC Truck.

USA1 has hand picked from ACC's colors to match USA1's brand of interior products. (No guessing & getting disappointed!)

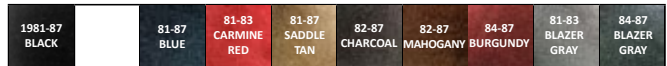

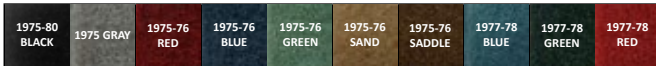

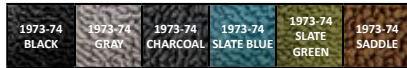

Pick from standard jute backing or USA1's recommended Mass backing option (See below why!) Cutpile carpet

Note: Small Hump = 2wd Column Shift Large Hump = 4WD or Manual Floor Shift

What is Mass Backing and why choose it?

It's a thick rubberized coating on the back of the carpet. It makes installation alot easier because it holds the mold versus standard backing.

Sound and heat benefits compare to high end sound deadeners such as Dynamat at a fraction of the cost. Simply it's the way to go!

USA1 offers Chevy & GMC Truck Aluminum Performance Radiators that are a direct fit with OE style tanks. You can finally have the performance of aluminum with a stock appearance. All tanks are polished but just spray with a little self etching primer and a little black laquer to get that 100% factory appearance. These COLD-CASE radiators are Tig welded 100 percent aluminum and absolutely beautiful. Don't buy a 3 or 4 row aluminum radiator! It doesn't cool as good as these oversize 2 row models.

USA1 IS A MANUFACTURER, BUT WE DO NOT MAKE SHEET METAL, HERE IS WHAT YOU NEED TO KNOW!!!

SHEET METAL FITTING

Ever wonder why body shops quote more than the truck cost when it was new for them just to do a little body work and paint it again? It's a learned art that takes years to perfect using expensive tools and materials, not to mention the man hours!!!! Reproduction sheet metal is not made from GM's tooling most of the time. GM had engineers that designed, tested, and retested each part numerous times and these trucks body panels still did not fit like what we are used to with today's standards. There are a handful of sheet metal manufacturers that produce products for these trucks. Company "A" might produce the hood and doors while Company "B" makes the radiator support and fenders. They may or may not get together and extensively test their products fitment with one another. Therefore, think of aftermarket sheet metal as a raw good or a starting point to make a finished product. There may be cutting, grinding, filling, re-welding, etc. needed to achieve a laser straight show truck finish. If this is a Do-it-yourself project and you have little to no experience just be patient and expect a learning curve. There are tons of online resources to assist with just about any job. Unfortunately, body work is a very hands on task, so it's difficult for USA1 to assist over the phone. If you need help seek out your closest restoration or body shop for assistance.

CRASH PARTS VS RESTORATION

Squarebody trucks are unique versus the previous generation of Chevy and GMC Trucks when it comes to replacement sheet metal body panels and patches. What we call the "Crash Parts Industry" exploded in this generation with insurance companies wanting cheaper alternatives to expensive OE parts. In the early years lots of bad aftermarket parts were made for these trucks and they are still available from parts suppliers. USA1 has extensively compared different manufacturers and handpicked the best option to restore your Squarebody truck.

CRASH PARTS PROS & CONS

- Pro: "Crash parts" are usually 20-30% cheaper in price
- Con: Most of the time the savings in the part you lose in labor to fix plus some!
- Con: "Crash parts are usually thinner gauge and made by a non-certified manufacturer
- Con: When ordering from other retailers, eBay, etc. you don't know if you are getting "Crash parts" or "Restoration"

SHIPPING SHEET METAL

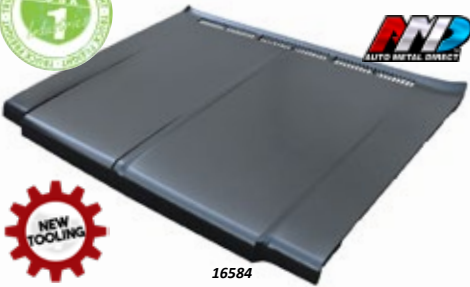

Why is sheet metal so expensive to ship? There are many factors that impact shipping cost, but here are a few and a couple of things you can do to save money!!! We have to ship most sheet metal items by truck freight, so size, weight and distance are the main factors. There are also handling and packaging materials. It's a lot harder for us to ship a complete 8-foot bed floor versus a fender. Ordering one product such as a single driver's side door is not the most economical way to spend your Squarebody truck budget because we can send one door plus lots of other parts in one shipment for the same price. That's because we are going to ship that door on a standard 48" x 40" pallet to make it easier for the trucking company to handle and reduce the chance of you receiving a door that looks like they ran over it with a forklift. We can fit a lot of Squarebody parts on a 48" x 40"-inch pallet so plan your orders to get the most bang for your buck. It's also a smart idea to have your truck freight shipment sent to a business, while, it doesn't really reduce the cost, it makes your experience a lot more streamlined. If you have to have a shipment delivered to a residential address it can be a major hassle for you and the trucking company. They have to schedule an appointment, and possibly down size to a smaller truck which can delay your delivery, as you have to be there to sign for the shipment. Having your shipment sent to a business with a dock, with normal business hours, and you there to inspect and sign is always the best option!!!

DAMAGED SHEET METAL

Everybody wants dent free, straight, perfect fitting sheet metal. Unfortunately, that doesn't really exist in mass quantity. Yes, you can get lucky and get that ready to prime and paint piece every now and then but it's not the norm. Scratches, dents, bent corners, etc. isn't damaged sheet metal. 99% of reproduction sheet metal is made overseas and has been produced, warehoused, shipped by container, warehoused and shipped possibly 3 more times here in the US before it gets to a truck it's going to be installed on. A good rule of thumb is to think of replacement sheet metal as being the piece already on the truck, if the piece could have been fixed using normal body work without complete replacement then the piece is not damaged. USA1 palatalizes all truck freight shipments and surrounds your products with protective buffer style packaging to protect from damage the best we can. If you receive a shipment that you believe is damaged the trucking company is going to ask you to sign a form called a "Bill of Lading". Specifically note the damage piece on this form and immediately call USA1 for assistance. This is a legal release form of responsibility from the trucking company so signing it without inspecting your product and noting damage makes it very difficult to file an insurance claim.
