The Census of 1851 shows Robert Grierson, was born in Brampton and was 24 years of age.

He lived at Caldcotes in Caldewgate, Carlisle. Married to

Caldcotes

Caldcotes is still there today, just along from the Jovial Sailor Pub in Caldewgate.

The first references to the Sailor pub appeared in 1837 and its name relates to the close proximity of the nearby ship canal (1821-1853). The original pub was bought by the Carlisle Brewery Company in 1902 and demolished. The present Jovial Sailor was built and opened in 1904. The exterior of the pub was little altered during state management days apart from the sills being raised on the arched windows to prevent passers-by being able to see in.

Cumbria

Libraries

Robert is now 45 still living at Caldcotes with Sarah and six Children. Robert and James are listed as Cotton Weavers. Anne and Betsy are Cotton Winders.

As Shaddongate Mill was nearby it is highly likely that is where they would have worked .

Shaddon Mill

The mill and chimney were constructed in 1836 by Peter Dixon and designed by Mancunian architect Richard Tattersall.

In its day, Shaddon Mill was the largest cotton mill in England and had the 8th largest chimney in the World.

Peter Dixon and Sons Ltd. provided work for 8000 people in their four mills in the area.

Robert's son Joseph can be found on the 1881 census at 28 East Street, Botchergate. Joseph is now 33 and lives with his wife Isabella and their four children - Frances, Jane, Robert and Elizabeth. Joseph's occupation is listed as General Labourer.

East Street was located in Botchergate, parallel to Portland Place near to where the Border Rambler and Walkabout are today.

East Street

East Street was located in Botchergate, parallel to Portland Place near to where the Border Rambler and Walkabout are today.

The last census of the century shows that Joseph and Isabella are still living at East St with their six children.

Jane aged 16 is a factory hand. She could have been employed at any of the many factories in Carlisle.

Carlisle Citadel Station

In September 1847, the first services departed the station, even though construction was not completed until the following year. It was built in a neo-Tudor style to the designs of English architect William Tite Carlisle station was one of a number in the city; the others were Crown Street and London Road, but it became the dominant station by 1851. The other stations had their passenger services redirected to it and were closed. Between 1875 and 1876, the station was expanded to accommodate the lines of the Midland Railway which was the seventh railway company to use it.

The 1911 census shows that Joseph and Isabella were living at Dresden Terrace, Blackwell Road. Four of their Children were living with them plus their grandson John who was 7. Martha worked as a Shirt making machinist and Mary as a factory hand at the tin works.

ROBERT R.BUCK & SONS

Mr Robert Buck was born in Yorkshire at Skipton in 1822. In 1863 he began business in Dalston, combining cotton and marino spinning with the manufacture of 'fancy flannel shirtings'. The business moved to Atlas Works in Nelson Street in 1883. In 1953 the Cumberland News reported that the firm in a year, manufactured at least 400 different tartans and about 70,000 dozen scarves, as well as shirts and pyjamas.
