STORY OF The Retreat

In 2004, we embarked on a journey to create a hotel in Arusha that reflects African culture and basic comforts. Through client feedback, we were inspired to create "The African Tulip," which has been a top-rated hotel in Arusha for over 14 years.

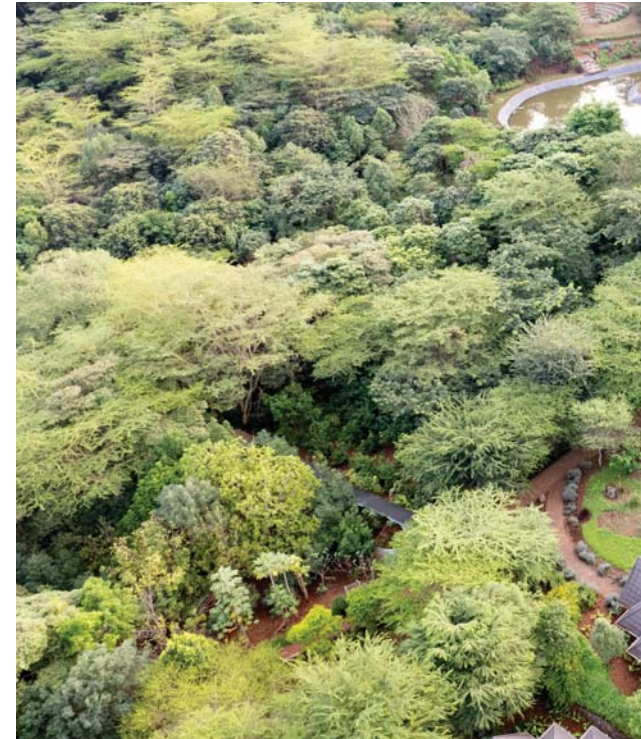

Later, we took on the new challenge of building a lodge in Karatu, next to the Ngorongoro Conservation Area. The once barren land inspired us to enhance its natural beauty and create a retreat that showcases Africa's hidden bounty. Thus, "The Retreat at Ngorongoro" was born.

Our first task was to bring the land to life by planting over 40,000 indigenous trees. Despite facing challenges like elephant trampling and water shortages, our persistence paid off, and the trees not only enhanced the beauty of the land but also attracted various bird species, insects, and small animals that inspired the bird-themed concept of our lodge. Moreover, the tree planting transformed the climate of the area, which is noticeable as you drive into this oasis from the dry, dusty roads and villages that border it. We also have a natural garden and orchard that provides fresh produce for the Kipepeo Restaurant, and we use pruned branches from our planted trees as firewood. We incorporate drought-resistant plants and grasses, and our trees attract rainfall, resulting in cleaner air, water, and reduced biodiversity loss. Additionally, we use solar panels to heat water and reduce our carbon footprint.

At The Retreat at Ngorongoro, we give back to our local community and environment. We provide employment and training opportunities to individuals from neighboring villages and purchase fresh milk and local eggs. Furthermore, we built a school for young children in the surrounding villages, just a 5-minute walk from the lodge.

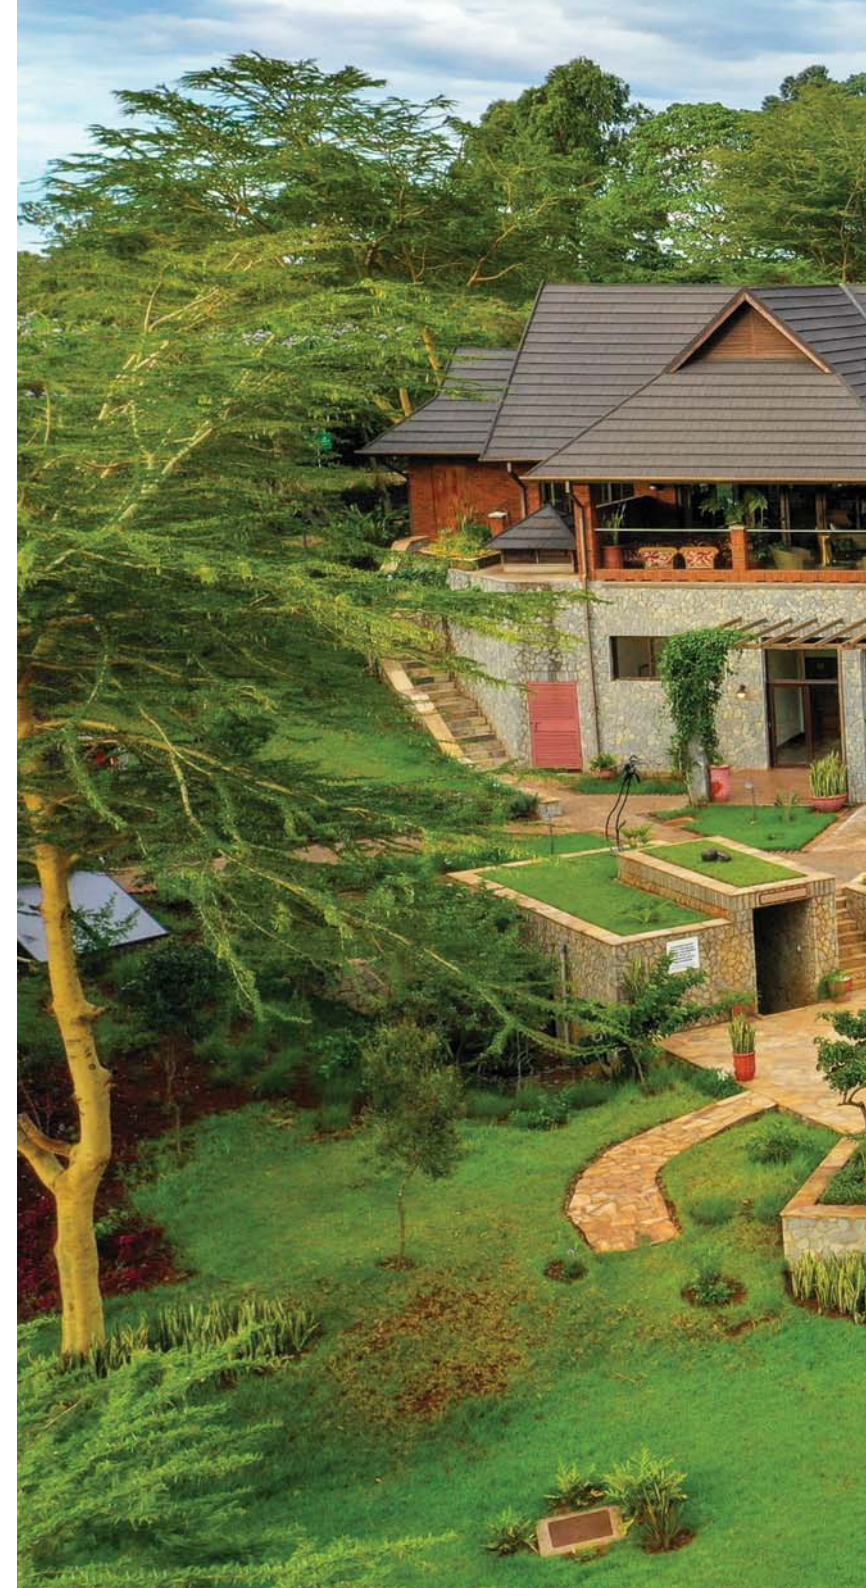

We're proud of all we've achieved and invite you to experience a slice of our little paradise.

WE HUMBLLY
WELCOME YOU TO OUR
Oasis for the Senses

Our "Retreat" is the perfect getaway for those seeking to escape the hustle and bustle of city life and immerse themselves in the beauty of nature. Come and experience our "Retreat", and leave feeling rejuvenated and refreshed.
